

Are you ready for the new General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR)?

The new GDPR's become law on Friday 25th May this year. And there are huge fines and other penalties for organisations that don't comply.

Many people have told us they're worried about what they must do. Although there's lots of technical and legal jargon available, business owners and managers have said they want practical, easy-to-understand information – and, crucially, what it all means in practice for them, their staff and other stakeholders.

Our half-day workshop will equip you to comply with the new Regulations – and provide comprehensive notes, handy checklists and access to our comprehensive library for you and your staff.

Join us at our next ½- day workshop designed for business owners and senior managers.
